WHAT IS BONAFIDE?

All organisations require important information to be read to their staff. But, with so much information, there is a real risk of vital content being overlooked.

Bonafide simplifies the delivery of company information, by instantly pushing the right information to the right people. Our simple traffic light system, allows staff to see the items needing their sign-off, new items, and those that require no action.

Management can instantly prove their team’s understanding of mandatory information, greatly minimising risk around regulatory compliance and governance.

You can rest easy knowing your staff have access to, and have read the information that matters, as soon as it’s published.
